

CRYSTAL THERAPY

FROM JOHN OF GOD, CASA DOM INACIO, BRAZIL

Crystal Therapy from John of God is a healing modality using an array of specially cut and lighted quartz crystals. For visitors to the Casa don Inácio in Brazil it is prescribed by the Entities, the helping spirits of the Casa, for rejuvenation, alignment and as a required preparation for healing work by the Entities. Heather Cumming was given permission to bring a unit back from Brazil to make the Casa Crystal Therapy available here.

The unit she acquired was uniquely prepared for her by John of God, guided by the Entities with special instructions for installation in her healing room in Westport, CT. The blessings and communications from the Entities make it clear that this installation functions as a link with the helping spirits of the Casa, supported by Heather, who is a medium of the Casa

The individual receiving the session rests face up with eyes closed, bathing in the energy of the crystals. The seven quartz crystals are in a fixed array, positioned over the Chakra centers at a level approximately 12 inches above the body. Light and color shine through each crystal in an alternating pattern which creates a spiraling amplification of pranic energy from the root chakra crystal to the top crown Chakra. This energy stream produces beneficial stimulation on many physical and energetic levels of being.

Scientific Observations on Crystal Therapy

According to science, quartz crystals are hexagonal bodies limited by plane surfaces formed by the interaction of the force fields of silicon and oxygen atoms. Crystals have the highest molecular orderliness found in nature. Crystals can also be understood as representing the complete electro-magnetic spectrum in a solid state. Modern physics postulates that matter is imprisoned solidified light, whereas light is energy in a free state. The highly organized state of matter of the quartz crystal allows photons to move without being trapped and condensed as in other forms of matter. A Crystal is therefore a special tool for using light in specific ways.

Further understanding of crystal therapy was developed by Marcel Vogel, who spent his lifetime investigating quartz crystals. This gifted man used scientific inquiry and intuitive guidance to design experiments demonstrating the power of crystals to affect physical processes. The experiments of Vogel and his associates proved the following:

- A precisely cut quartz crystal produces a constant vibration of the same frequency as water in its purest state.
- Moving water will pick up the vibration from the crystal through resonant interaction and this transferred charge will structure the water.
- A cut crystal can be charged with intent to structure water.

Structured water has increased surface tension and bonding properties. It is the pure state of water found in healthy cell tissue, while unstructured water is found in unhealthy cells and cancer cells. One of the most important biological bases for the health giving effects of crystal therapy is the vibration from the crystals resonating the water in our tissues and cells.

Benefits

Casa Crystal Therapy affects us on all levels of matter and energy, having an inter-dimensional effect that benefits the healthy ordering of the individual. The vibrational patterns amplified by the Casa Crystal therapy manifests as higher and higher levels of order, harmony and awareness.

Casa Crystal therapy does the following:

- Harmonizes the Chakras and subtle energy bodies
- Re-balances frequencies in the electro-magnetic field
- Triggers healing processes in the psyche and body
- Rejuvenates physical systems for improved function
- Stimulates the development of inner senses for spiritual awareness

Guidelines for receiving Casa Crystal Therapy

Relaxed receptivity is the best mind set to bring to the Casa Crystal Therapy table, cultivating an attitude of letting go and allowing. The crystals evoke feelings of peace and serenity, a starting place for letting the energies amplified by the crystals transport you to greater levels of awareness and perception. You may experience insights and release of specific personal issues and memories. At times, you may have feelings of warmth, movement, tingling or expansion in various centers of your body. Your awareness may extend beyond yourself to transpersonal states of higher consciousness—or, you may fall asleep! Each individual is certain to have a unique experience necessary to his or her own healing and alignment process.

Your session is enhanced by Heather, who holds the safe healing space with you. As a Medium of the Casa, daughter of the Casa, Heather has received training from the Entities to provide support and strength to your intention. The value of a trained professional healer such as Heather is immeasurable, and of great emotional and spiritual benefit. She is also able to advise you in planning the timing and number of sessions.

Drink adequate amounts of water before and after the session. Allow the benefits to unfold in the hours after the session with ease and gratitude. You have given yourself a wonderful gift.
